Caloundra Regional Gallery's current exhibition [\[SQUEEZE\]](#) is a biennial art educator exhibition that encourages art educators out of their classrooms and into their studio to expand their arts practice.

This exhibition consists of works by thirty four local educators from primary, secondary and tertiary institutions across the coast. It features a diverse collection of creativity ranging from painting, sculpture, installation and jewellery.

To complement the exhibition, Lyne Marshall will speak at the Perfect Blend. Lyne is a contemporary artist, author and tutor in creativity and innovation. She grew up on Bribie Island in what she describes as a time of immense freedom, living by the sea and running barefoot on the land. For the last twenty years Lyne has lived on a mountain range at Tallegalla on solar power and with a similar sense of isolation provided in her childhood. Since completing a Visual Arts Degree in 1994, the artist has produced numerous solo exhibitions and exhibited in Japan, USA, NZ and twice at the Shanghai Art Fair. Investigation and research are strong components of Lyne Marshall's arts practice and she has published two books on the creative process and the hidden dimensions in art. Having won several awards and been shortlisted for others, Lyne's philosophy is to find the hidden language in art, which is the subject of her latest book. I am certain Lyne will provide a most engaging and interesting talk for all.
